Worst Idaho Flood in 25 Years

Irrigation Dam Collapses, Dozen Villages Flooded

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southeast Idaho fought its worst floods in 25 years today, as collapse of an irrigation dam and heavy rains inundated new communities and sent hundreds of residents scurrying for high ground.

Swollen streams which already had surged over their banks into more than a dozen villages and towns threatened still others. Low parts of downtown Pocatello were flooded.

An earth-fill dam broke Monday. Impounded water swept down the Teton River and spread over half the town of Sugar City, which has 700 inhabitants.

National Guard troops and volunteers battled to control the rising water, in the face of new dangers caused by rapid melting of mountain snows during a warm spell coupled with the downpours.

Seven Idaho counties have been declared disaster areas. More than 1,000 families have fled their homes.

In Southern California skies cleared after six days of rain, and high waters began to recede. In their wake were tons of mud and debris and scores of wrecked or damaged homes. Some residents in isolated areas were still cut off.

Twenty-six deaths were attributed to the rain, which lashed more than eight inches in downtown Los Angeles. Among them were three San Diego boys trapped Monday in the cave-in of a rain-softened sandstone cliff.

Cars were muddled in along Hollywood Boulevard in the heart of the movie studio area after an early-morning cloudburst Monday sent muck roaring down a residential street.

Some homes were buried in mud to within a foot of the ceiling. Cars were tossed down Beachwood Drive along with planks, boulders, trees and other debris.

Senators Want Full Story From Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators have told the State Department they want the full story of U2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers—from his ill-starred flight over the Soviet Union to his walk to freedom.

Spokesmen for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee say they expect they'll get the information after Central Intelligence Agency men question the 32-year-old flier.

If they don't, the senators indicated they may have to question Powers themselves.

So far Powers has been kept under wraps since he was exchanged Saturday for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

The only official word on the pilot's whereabouts Monday was a State Department statement that he is seeing his family and will be questioned.

Evidently the only members of his family permitted to see Powers are his wife Barbara who flew here from her mother's home at Milledgeville, Ga., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers of Norton, Va. Where they are holding their reunion is a secret.

One of Powers' sisters, Mrs. William E. Hileman, 25, of suburban Glassmanor, Md., said she is "burned up" because authorities won't let her see her big brother.

"I think all this stuff is ridiculous, absolutely uncalled for," she said. "Nobody will tell me where my big brother is. If I knew, I'd go see him, even if I had to walk."

"I know there is a reason behind all this," she added later.

Big Check Phony As 'Sir Douglas'

NEW YORK (AP)—It was a rather bad show for "Sir Douglas Bedford of London" Monday.

He arrived on the liner Ivernia and the FBI was waiting for him at the dock. The agents escorted him to the federal building, where he was held in $20,000 bail for a hearing Monday on a charge of cashing a phony check for $2,515.72 in Honolulu.

"Sir Douglas" is really Lou Bennett, 38, a California native and travel agency clerk, the FBI said.

Ass't. U. S. Atty. Thomas Edwards said that since Bennett's departure from New York last August, he had blazed a trail to Honolulu, Denmark, Norway, England and Scotland.

He was arrested in Aberdeen, Scotland, last month on charges of passing a phony check in London. After serving 14 days in London on the charge, he was placed aboard the Ivernia and Scotland Yard notified the FBI to expect his arrival.

Arrested with Bennett in Aberdeen was a U.S. Marine who deserted in Honolulu and accompanied "Sir Douglas" on his travels. The Marine, who was not identified here, was being held in London for U.S. authorities.

The FBI said Bennett was a clerk at the Twentieth Century Tour & Travel Agency in New York. Using the agency's stationery, credit, airline tickets and blank checks, he built up the character of "Sir Douglas" in some of the most fashionable spots in the world.

Probably his biggest achievement, officials said, was the tossing of parties in New York and Long Island for members of a rock 'n' roll band serving aboard the aircraft carrier Independence.

Meeting of Big 3 Seen

LONDON (AP)—Diplomatic sources predicted today President Kennedy, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Soviet Premier Khrushchev will meet in a summit conference later this year.

This possibility, the informants said, is a likely outcome of communications which the two Western leaders exchanged with Khrushchev.

A Foreign Office spokesman went out of his way at a news conference to explain that future planning for East-West contact is still in a fluid state.

He stressed that the Western powers are consulting among themselves on the approach to be made now to Khrushchev.

Khrushchev tossed Kennedy and Macmillan a hot potato Monday by proposing the 18-nation disarmament conference in Geneva should begin March 14 on a summit basis.

A Western answer may be delivered to Moscow this week.

Kline III, 6
Others Plead
Not Guilty

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Six of seven persons formerly associated with the Sister Kenny Foundation pleaded innocent to an indictment containing 15 counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy when they were arraigned today before U.S. District Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye.

The seventh defendant, Marvin L. Kline, former foundation director, was not in court and his attorney said he was "ill and in utter collapse."

The seven men were charged with misusing thousands of dollars contributed by the public for the charitable group's rehabilitation work.

Judge Nordbye tentatively set Feb. 23 for Kline's appearance. He accepted a suggestion from the U.S. district attorney that a doctor be appointed to examine Kline and see if he is fit to appear.

Harry H. Peterson, attorney for Kline, said his client had been ill five or six weeks and has been bedridden the last 10 days. Peterson did not indicate the nature of Kline's illness.

Nordbye gave the defendants 30 days to file motions and all six were released on $2,500 bond each. District Attorney Miles Lord said he would not move for a trial date until the time for filing motions has expired.

The defendants, all indicted Jan. 30 by a Federal Grand Jury after lengthy investigation, are: Kline, former Minneapolis mayor and director of the foundation until ousted following a state investigation.

Robert Kennedy, Sukarno Meet

By PETER ARNETT

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy told Indonesian President Sukarno today the U.S. government has "done all it can behind the scenes" to promote a peaceful solution to the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea.

A U.S. Embassy source said Kennedy emphasized to Sukarno in a two-hour conference over lunch at the Merdeka Palace that America has "a big interest in this dispute and wants a peaceful solution."

Kennedy's remarks to Sukarno were the basis of a verbal message he carried to neutralist Indonesia from his older brother President Kennedy, the embassy source said.

The U.S. attorney general made similar remarks in conferences today with other top Indonesian political figures who regard him as a direct pipeline to President Kennedy. Crammed into Kennedy's tight schedule were talks with Sukarno; Foreign Minister Subandrio; National Security Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution; Atty. Gen. Gunawan, and a Sukarno advisor, Ruslan Abdul Ghani, deputy chairman of the Supreme Advisory Council.

The embassy source said Kennedy did not offer any solution to Indonesia's many problems and that his talks were of an informative nature. However, he did stress America's deep interest in Indonesia.

President Kennedy "appreciates attempts by Indonesia's leaders to develop your country economically and achieve prosperity for all the people," the attorney general said.

He added the President "also realizes the extent to which the New Guinea issue is a problem in your country's economic development."

Sukarno is placing his nation's full resources behind his campaign to get West New Guinea from the Netherlands this year, by force if necessary.

Kennedy made clear America's great interest in the dispute and emphasized that the United States is the friend of both countries, the embassy source said.

Kennedy spoke for 45 minutes with eight top representatives of nationalistic and Moslem labor unions and appealed to them to help find a peaceful solution to the New Guinea crisis.

They further proposed to Khrushchev, it was disclosed Monday, that the three governments keep their representatives at the bargaining table "until concrete results have been obtained—however long this may take."

President Kennedy is expected to reply in a few days to the Soviet premier's counter-proposal.

Informants said the reply will be courteous, as was Khrushchev's letter, but firm.

It will restate the position that a heads of government meeting should convene only to approve work done on a lower level, or to try to bridge differences which negotiators could not solve, the informants said.

Kennedy's reply, however, will not exclude the possibility of a summit at a later date should the Geneva parley show adequate progress. But it will restate the reasons for Western dislike for unprepared summitry, the sources said.

The government relaxed its ban on public demonstrations for the funeral, which was arranged by virtually all labor and left-wing organizations in Paris.

The bodies of the other four demonstrators were sent to their hometowns in the provinces for burial.

PARIS (AP)—Between 250,000 and 300,000 Parisians marched slowly through the streets today in silent protest against the Secret Army Organization and police repression of demonstrations against the right-wing terrorists.

It was one of the biggest assemblages in the French capital since the 1944 liberation.

The vast throng marched two miles from the historic Place de la Republique to the Pitié-Salpêtrière cemetery with the bodies of four of the eight persons killed in a wild street fighting last Thursday night between police and Communist demonstrators against the secret army.

Commission On Women's Rights Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has set a new commission off on the task of finding out "the things that are right and the things that are wrong" concerning the status of women.

He told the group Monday he wants to make sure American women "are able to move ahead and perform without any discrimination by law or by implication."

The 25-member commission on the Status of Women, headed by Eleanor Roosevelt, then held its first meeting in the executive wing of the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who came to Washington to preside at the two-day organization meeting, said the commission's major aim was "to get information on whatever discriminations exist and get it before the public."

In setting up the commission last December, Kennedy said he wanted its report by Oct. 1, 1963.

Hated Sea, Says Veteran of 46 Years on Ships

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Geoffrey M. Fletcher, craggy-faced captain of the British luxury liner Andes, has a confession to make about his 46 years at sea.

"I hate it," he told astonished reporters Monday after the 27,000-ton vessel docked on its first visit to San Francisco.

"I'm afraid of it," he continued, calmly, holding a cup of tea in one hand and his pipe in the other.

"You should see me at sea, especially in rough weather. I know what the sea can do."

Captain Fletcher, a bluff English seadog with sparse gray hair and an engaging smile, received the press in his cabin aboard the flagship of the British Royal Mail Lines. He disclosed that this is his last voyage before retirement when the Andes returns to Southampton on its round-the-world cruise.

He was asked: "Then why, captain, did you go to sea in the first place?"

It was sort of family tradition, he said, and then added thoughtfully: "It was poverty. I went to sea at 15, and I'm 60 now. I've been too cowardly to change."

"Would you send your son to sea?"

"I happen to be a bachelor, thank God," replied Captain Fletcher.

"Actually, the sea's not so bad when the sun is shining," he said in reply to a persistent questioner. "But when the weather turns bad I don't like it a bit. Oh, I don't go around bemoaning, of course—that wouldn't do, you know—but I don't like it."

Goldwater Gives Backhand Endorsement To George Romney

CINCINNATI, Ohio—U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., declared here Monday the announcement of George Romney's candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan "is indicative that we have good men in the Republican party in every state."

He added, however, that "I do hope that during the campaign he is able to decide more emphatically that he is a Republican than he did a week ago" on a television program.

Goldwater made his statements at a news conference. He spoke Monday evening at a Republican Lincoln Day rally in the Cincinnati Gardens.

Asked again about his own possible candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, Goldwater said: "I am not seeking the nomination and I don't think the Republican party ever will offer it to me."

Norway Closes Sections of Coast

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Large areas along the Norwegian coast have been banned for foreign nonmilitary shipping, the Defense Department said Monday.

Foreign civilian ships of more than 50 tons will have to carry a Norwegian state-registered pilot if they enter these waters, and they must approach them through certain sea lanes, the announcement said. All the banned areas are near important coastal defense installations.

Congressional Record Too Costly, Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Paul C. Jones, D-Mo., thinks his colleagues put too much of what they don't say into the Congressional Record.

Jones told the House Monday, "We are spending more money to put out more useless information than ever before." He said Congressional Record printing costs have increased to $90 a page, or more than $2.5 million a year.

He has introduced a bill which would limit the number of editorials, essays and other treatises congressmen can insert in the record.

Just When Will That Garage Be Completed?

By ADOLPH BREMER
Daily News City Editor

How long will it take to build that new Winona County highway department garage in Goodview?

The County Board of Commissioners told the City Council Monday night that it wouldn't be completed until Feb. 1, on the basis of which the aldermen dismissed the present county garage as a possible site for the Winona Transit Co. garage.

Commissioner Leonard Merchlewitz said that the contractor had 250 working days to complete the job, ground hasn't been broken yet and those 250 days haven't started ticking off.

THIS MORNING, however, a Daily News check with 1. The county auditor's office; 2. the architect; and 3. the general contractor revealed that it's not 250 working days, but 250 calendar days; that they've started ticking off already or are about to (contracts have been signed), and, as a consequence, the completion date is sometime in October.

As far as the general contractor is concerned the completion date is Oct. 1. That's when he intends to turn it over to the county.

ASKED ABOUT this discrepancy this morning, Commissioner Merchlewitz said that it must have been a misunderstanding because they had figured the completion date after taking out weekends and holidays.

He said he'd meet with the other commissioners today—three of them were present at City Hall last night — and discussed this point.

The completion date may be of some importance. Winona Transit must vacate its Northern States Power Co. quarters on Johnson Street by July 1. It says it can't afford to build or rent itself and wants city help. The city suggested the present county garage at West 3rd and Winona streets.

Last night's meeting was called to discuss that possibility.

When Merchlewitz immediately said the new building wouldn't be completed until Feb. 1, the meeting, in effect, was over but it went on for 90 minutes anyhow reviewing the garage and some other possibilities and aspects.

RAY M. FEY, Eau Claire, managing partner of Winona Transit, said that the garage wouldn't be particularly suitable anyhow because it would involve extensive remodeling to meet Industrial Commission standards. Merchlewitz agreed.

Commissioner Ray Kohner said a bid opening, of course, would be required. Chairman Paul Baer said that the consensus of the board was to sell although Commissioner Kohner held out the possibility of renting.

ALD. LLOYD Deilke wondered if NSP might not extend the lease expiring July 1. Fey said that he had inquired but did not say what the answer was, although he indicated that it was negative by his plea for a new garage by July 1.

After the county garage was dismissed, Winona Transit and aldermen, among other things, discussed tax relief — legal and illegal — but commissioners offered little comment. This is in their province, to a certain extent.

THE MEETING was the fourth in less than three months the City Council has discussed Winona Transit financial problems and for the fourth time the result was the same: Winona Transit wants the city to build a garage for its buses and lease it to the firm — cheap.

And the Council's unfriendly reply remains the same, too. Should we do that even if we can, legally, isn't there some other solution?

Fey says the company just can't afford to pay more than its present $350 a month rent (although it could pay for heating, too) and since he says an adequate building can't be built for that, nor can an existing building be rented, there's no solution except a so-called city subsidy.

He says the city can borrow money cheaper and it shouldn't have to pay taxes on the building. The city says yes we can borrow money cheaper but there's not much chance, if any, of escaping the taxes.

Of course, the city tells Winona Transit, why don't you raise the fares or eliminate service when hardly one is using the bus.

Fey says he's afraid to raise the rates again (they were raised last year) for fear of losing more customers, thus offsetting the fare increase, and, as for eliminating service, he's afraid that weekend bus riders without buses would find other transportation not only then but weekdays, too.

IN WISCONSIN public transit firms get certain tax concessions; in Minnesota such concessions have been proposed in the Legislature without success, said Fey. Mayor R. K. Ellings recalled that several years ago a local firm got a tax concession temporarily to save the industry.

"I think those things are being done everyday," said Ald. Deilke. "They're completely illegal," said Harold Bremer, counsel for Winona Transit.

Only county board comment came from Commissioner Merchlewitz who asked Fey if he might not be a little bit high in estimating $200 a month taxes on the building he needs. It would cost $60,000-$70,000.

WHEN DISCUSSIONS began in December aldermen felt that if they built the building—say with a bond issue—the city wouldn't have to pay taxes on it. Not so, it has since learned. George M. Robertson Jr., city attorney, said it's true the city doesn't pay a tax on the airport hangar, but that's under a special ruling of the attorney general. He said another attorney general ruling forbids subsidy to a bus company either directly or indirectly.

He noted again that it may be possible for the city to sell bonds for the garage under an act authorizing bonds where public convenience is involved and where a revenue can be derived. Aldermen asked him to travel to St. Paul to confer with the attorney general.

Council member, who will go along, said, "You're not giving bus company a deal; you're giving people a deal." Mrs. Muriel Olson, 1st Ward alderman, wondered if it might not be "better to let people pay who ride."

FEY SAID that the hurdle is not the investment — "we're not broke"—it's the carrying charge. Said Ald. Clarence Tribell, "If we keep giving things away, they're going to run us out of town."

Chamber of Commerce representatives were present and spoke for the subsidy. Robertson suggested "subsidies" from big users, like the merchants, hospital and Board of Education.

1962 Election Called Big One For 2 Parties.

Many experts on both sides claim the party that wins the 1962 elections in Minnesota will control the state's political activities for many years. Minnesota's 3rd District Republican chairwoman told a Winona County Republican Committee's Lincoln Day dinner group of about 100 Monday night at Hotel Winona in urging them to work for the party.

One reason for this control, Mrs. John W. Mooney, Edina, pointed out, is that for the first time the governorship and other state officers will be elected for four-year terms. She issued a "challenging, clarion call to duty which must be answered aggressively by the state and county Republican party organizations."

MRS. MOONEY, whose husband is first vice chairman of the Minnesota Republican party, repeated the basic beliefs of the party and charged the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party with wanting "give-away government."

The Republican Party since the days of Lincoln has supported "fiscal integrity," she said, attacking what she termed the extravagant spending of the Democratic administrations in state and federal governments. "We are the only party who can bring national sovereignty with national solvency," she said.

She attacked the Democrats for encouraging a welfare state and trying to coddle the public into accepting it. "We believe everybody is intelligent enough and able enough to lead his own life and make his own decisions," she asserted. "We dislike those who demand their 'rights' but ignore their responsibilities."

Mrs. Mooney said the responsibility for achieving good government is "squarely ours." Asking those attending the dinner to be active party workers, she said, "overall progress comes only when we become personally interested in our government" by taking part in politics.

MRS. A. G. Lackore introduced Mrs. Mooney. Winona County Republican Chairman William P. Theurer spoke briefly about the basic human qualities of Abraham Lincoln. Mrs. Byron White, county chairwoman, spoke briefly.

H. R. Hurd was toastmaster. Fred Schilling acted as dinner chairman. Steve Edstrom played the organ during dinner. The College of Saint Teresa's Triple Trio sang under the direction of Sister Marie, O.S.F.

Rhoderick Named To State Unit

Joseph F. Rhoderick, manager, Winona Industrial Development Association, will attend a dinner in St. Paul at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday conducted by the state Department of Business Development.

The meeting, which will also be attended by Gov. Elmer Anderson, will consider how the department can best serve the industrial promotion men who have been invited.

200-Pound Stone Falls Off St. Peter's Church

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A 200-pound stone support of one of the two giant clocks on the facade of St. Peter's Basilica fell 100 feet and shattered today.

It landed in a spot usually occupied by a parked automobile. Today the spot was vacant.

One Car Damaged

A man backing out of his driveway on Howard Street reported no damage to his car when it and a car going west collided Saturday at 8:30 p.m., police said. The other driver, Mrs. Frank J. Merles, 526 Liberty St., said there was $50 damage to the left front door of her car. The back end of a car driven by Arthur Thompson, 1062 W. Howard St., was not damaged.

SCHOOL STAFF

Board May Change Policy on Wives

The Board of Education is going to take a stab at rewriting the 33-year-old board policy that prohibits the employment of married women as public school teachers except on a temporary basis.

The decision to attempt an overhaul of the policy adopted in the fall of 1928 was made after directors Monday night rejected by a one-vote margin a proposal to notify the 15 women who, though married, have been teaching this year that it was the intent of the board to terminate their contracts at the end of the current school year.

EACH YEAR at this time the board has initiated similar termination proceedings in regard to married women who had been employed by the board only for the school year. A majority of the teachers involved in last night's discussion have had their contracts terminated in previous years and subsequently were hired for new one-year periods.

Teachers after receiving the notice of the board's intent to terminate contracts have the right to request within 10 days a hearing on the termination action. This right has not been exercised — in the case of married women teachers — in the past.

ALMOST EVERY year there has been opposition expressed by one or more board members to (1) continuance of a policy which provides that married women can be hired only when an equally or better qualified single woman or man can't be found for the teaching post and, then, only for a single year and (2) the annual contract terminations and frequent re-employment on another one-year basis of a number of the teachers.

When notice of board intent of termination for the 15 came up for consideration last night there wasn't too much discussion prior to action on the motion.

A rollcall of the nine directors then resulted in defeat of the motion, 5-4, with 3rd Ward Directors Frank J. Allen, Jr., and Dr. C. W. Rogers; Dr. C. R. Kolloski, 2nd Ward; D. G. Hoffman, 1st Ward; and Franklin Tillman, 4th Ward, voting against termination. Superintendent Lawrence Savelle, Maurice D. Godsey, 2nd Ward; Daniel S. Sadowski, 4th Ward; and Director-at-large L. R. Woodworth supporting the motion.

DR. ROGERS explained that his opposition to the motion stemmed not so much from disagreement with the general philosophy of the policy as with the way it's implemented.

"I personally feel," Dr. Rogers commented, "that it's probably working out all right. I'm not in favor of having ourselves deluged with married women on our teaching staff."

"But," he continued, "our terminating their contracts and then turning around and hiring them again is hard to explain to the public; it sounds kind of weird."

Dr. Rogers said he'd like to have the board "get together and make a policy that is easier to explain."

Allen said that he felt "substantially the same as Dr. Rogers" about the matter and suggested that the existing policy be dropped and a new one formulated "as soon as possible."

WOODWORTH said that he acknowledged that married women who have been rehired a number of times were outstanding teachers in the estimation of the school administration. But, he continued, "there is the chance that by eliminating this policy you could close the door on obtaining an outstanding replacement."

Dr. Rogers said that he didn't want to "argue how this policy works out. I just want to see if we can't write a policy that's more understandable. If we can't I'd probably go along with the one we have."

Hoffman said he was in favor of a policy that would permit the hiring of the best available teacher for any position.

At the end of the discussion Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson was asked to draft a revised policy for presentation to the board at its next meeting.

THE MARRIED WOMEN teachers involved in this year's proceedings are:

Mrs. Archie Gilbertson, special education at Washington-Kosciusko; Mrs. John Breitlow, second grade at Central Elementary; Mrs. Floyd Farnholtz, first grade at Washington-Kosciusko; Mrs. William Green, first grade at Jefferson; Mrs. Herbert J. Honer, kindergarten at Central Elementary; Mrs. Harry Jackson, English instructor at Senior High School; Mrs. Victor Gilbertson, fourth grade at Lincoln; Mrs. Thomas Herbranson, remedial reading at Jefferson; Mrs. Edwin Snecner, special education at Washington-Kosciusko; Mrs. Donald Siedman, second grade at Jefferson; Mrs. Frank Van Alstine, third grade at Jefferson; Mrs. James Werra, first grade at Jefferson; Mrs. J. Wesley Wheeler, first grade at Lincoln; Mrs. E. D. Whiting, librarian at Washington-Kosciusko; and Mrs. Phil Williams, instructor for a trainable class at Lincoln.

HE SAID HE thought the board should take steps to have the schedule changed so that the semi-final games are played in Winona and Rochester in alternate years, starting with Rochester this year and Winona the next.

Rochester and Winona automatically are seeded as semifinalists in the district tournament each year. Two other schools are paired in the other semifinal game. Both games ordinarily are played at Mayo Civic Auditorium on the same night.

Godsey acknowledged that perhaps facilities weren't available here to accommodate crowds for two games. He said, however, that he could see no reason why both games had to be played on the same floor.

Winona and Rochester could play here—where Memorial Hall on the Winona State College campus would be suitable—one year and at Rochester the next year. The other semifinal game could be played elsewhere, Godsey said.

HAVING A game played here in alternate years, he pointed out, would be more convenient for fans and parents, result in savings for band transportation and give each team equal consideration in the home town advantage in playing conditions.

The board unanimously supported his proposal that efforts be made to have the semifinal game scheduled on that basis.

Willbur Renk, who also is campaigning for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, told a service club at Oconomowoc "it is high time to stop looking for new taxes and for the next couple of years to practice living within our budget."

He said the state's new tax plan was "almost a joke" because of many inconsistencies. He said a workingman pays a tax on his lunch while a weekend sports fan can buy a $5 ticket for a university football game tax free.

L. Gov. Warren Knowles, also campaigning for the GOP endorsement in the governor's race, said at Superior "Americans have been tranquilized by the 'gimme gimme' attitude that has infused our national character some welfare state liberals of the first New Deal began telling people they could vote for a living instead of working for it."

Rep. Deconian, a New York Republican, said at Eau Claire that some 4.5 million persons will not Employment of a public schools vocational agriculture instructor to free one member of the staff for appointment as fulltime supervisor of an area farm management program was authorized Monday night by the Board of Education.

Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson recommended employment of another man in consideration of the state Department of Education's indication that it would like to have Gordon Ferguson, who has been serving half-time as an adult agriculture instructor and half-time in the farm management program, to work fulltime in the latter. In this position he'd supervise the program in a seven-county area in Southeastern Minnesota and, although he'd be under the board's administrative control, his salary would be paid by the state. Harry Peirce is the other vocational agriculture instructor.

The board voted, with 2nd Ward Director Maurice Godsey and Director-at-large L. R. Woodworth dissenting—to authorize the superintendent to hire an adult agriculture instructor to replace Ferguson not later than July 1.

A request of the Winona Area Shrine Club for use of Jefferson Field June 16 and 17 for the Shrine Circus was granted.

Also granted was the request by the Rev. Robert P. Stamschror, athletic director at Cotter High School, for use by the Region 6 Catholic High School league of the Senior High School auditorium and gymnasium Feb. 23 for the consolation and championship games of the regional basketball tournament.

Lewiston Man Pays Fines in Municipal Court

A Lewiston garageman who told the judge he drives "every day" was fined a total of $85 this morning in municipal court after pleading guilty to charges of driving after suspension of his driver's license and failing to stop for a stoplight.

A man arrested with him pleaded guilty to a charge of permitting a driver whose license is under suspension to drive his car and was sentenced to a fine of $30 or 10 days in city jail.

Dennis C. Barber, 25, was sentenced to a fine of $75 or 25 days in city jail for driving after suspension and $10 for the stoplight violation. He paid the fines.

Ray D. Snyder, Lewiston, paid a $30 fine for allowing Barber to drive his car. The two were arrested by police Sunday at 1:35 a.m. at 3rd and Center streets. They appeared before Municipal Judge S. D. J. Bruski.

According to Barber's driving record, he previously was convicted of drunken driving April 15, 1959, and driving after suspension three times, April 15, 1959; July 11, 1960, and July 25, 1960. His driver's license was suspended until he files proof of insurance coverage.

A CHICAGO MAN pleaded innocent to a charge of driving after suspension of his driver's license in municipal court today and will face trial Feb. 29.

Bail for LaVane R. Ronnenberg, 31, was set at $75 by Judge Bruski. Ronnenberg filed the bail.

He was arrested by police today at 2:50 a.m. at Broadway and High Street.

CLIFFORD W. DAHL, 44, Trempealeau, Wis., forfeited $30 this morning in municipal court on a charge of careless driving.

Dahl was arrested by police Sunday at 2:01 a.m. at 3rd and Washington streets after colliding with a parked car owned by Elroy Balk.

Rushford Vote On On-Sale Store Slated

Rushford, Minn. (Special)—Due to an increasing demand for an on-sale liquor store here, Rushford City Council has decided to hold an advisory referendum. It will be held Feb. 23.

Some citizens have complained that lack of such a store is causing many potential city customers to do their trading elsewhere. Mayor Arthur Miller said. They point out that on-sale stores are located in virtually every town of comparable size in Rushford's tri-county area. Harmony opened one last year.

Rushford now has an off-sale store. The Council has stated that if an on-sale store were opened, it would be operated in strict adherence to the law as the present store is. Available income would be used to provide organized and supervised recreation for youth, additional park and playground facilities, possibly a swimming pool in the future, additional policing and lowering of taxes.

A few years ago a city advisory vote was favorable to a municipal store by a large majority. It is possible, however, that public opinion has changed. The Council urged everyone to vote so it can get a true reflection of opinion. Meanwhile, it has indicated that it would act on the results of the referendum, if favorable, "when it deems the time favorable."

Plates Impounded, Car Out Anyhow; Pays Fine of $50

A rural Rushford man pleaded guilty to a charge of permitting illegal operation of a car whose license plates have been impounded and paid a fine of $50 plus $5 costs Monday before Goodview Justice Lewis Albert.

J. Fred Malin, 44, Rushford Rte. 1, was arrested by Deputy Helmer Weinmann on Washington Street Monday at 2:15 p.m. on a warrant issued by Justice Albert.

The 1961 license plates and registration card of Malin's car had been impounded previously by Justice Albert. Malin later obtained 1962 license plates without a registration card, according to Sheriff George Fort, and placed them on the vehicle.

Malin, 45 E. 4th St., pleaded innocent before Justice Albert Monday to charges of driving a vehicle that is not properly registered and driving a car with no registration plates.

Cisewski will face trial Friday at 2 p.m. before Justice Albert. Bail on each charge was set at $15, which Cisewski filed.

Cisewski was arrested by Deputy Weinmann while allegedly driving Malin's car Monday at 11:45 a.m.

The 1962 license plates on Malin's car have been impounded. The car at present is parked at the sheriff's office.

Husband Forfeits Deposits of $25

A Winona man charged with assault by his wife and resisting arrest by two police officers forfeited two deposits of $25 each in municipal court this morning. Elmer J. Prigge, 31, 624 E. Sanborn St., was arrested by his wife, Lois, at the couple's home Saturday at 6:10 p.m. Mrs. Prigge then called police, who arrested her husband at 6:25 p.m. at the home for resisting arrest.

Preston Creamery Credits $55,439 To Co-op Patrons

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—A total of $55,439 was credited to patrons' capital credits as a result of activities in 1961. It was announced at the annual meeting of the Preston Creamery Association Saturday at Preston High School auditorium.

Total receipts for the past year were $3,558,933, the annual report revealed.

The report also stated the association paid its members $2,813,779 for 60,108,520 pounds of whole milk, 178,770 pounds of cream and 63,858,748 pounds of skim milk.

The association now had total assets of $909,778. These consist of cash on hand, accounts receivable, inventories, investments in other cooperatives, prepaid assets and depreciated permanent assets.

Permanent assets after depreciation are: Land $14,850; buildings, $106,105; equipment, $292,861; and trucks and vans, $15,994. This totals $349,750.

About 800 heard Ralph Godin, associated with cooperative auditing at the state Department of Agriculture, talk on "Dairy and Food." Eugene Schevel, president of Preston Marketing Association, gave a resume of business in the Marketing Association. Marvin Rindels, Preston, was re-elected as director and Murrell Jacobson, Harmony, was elected to replace Ralph Larson.

5 Teachers to Retire, 4 Appointed to Staff

The Board of Education, which received notice of the retirement at the end of the current school year of five members of the Winona public schools faculty, Monday night accepted administrative recommendations for the employment of four new teachers.

Directors approved the filing of notices of the board's intent to terminate the contracts, effective June 8, of Miss Margaret Vorker, English instructor at Senior High School; William Zilliox, head of the Senior High science department; Miss Marguerite Riley, first grade at Central Elementary; Miss Marion Wheeler, sixth grade at Lincoln; and Miss Grace McLeod, third grade at Madison, all of whom reach the mandatory retirement age of 65 this year.

Each of those to whom notices of intent of contract termination is sent has the right to request a hearing before the board on the termination action.

THE BOARD also made appointments to fill two vacancies on the advisory committee for vocational agriculture.

James Sablin, who'll be graduated this spring at Winona State College, was hired as a fifth grade teacher at Madison School at the salary to be established for beginning teachers in the 1962-63 salary schedule that will be adopted this spring.

Janet Lammo, Hastings, Minn., another candidate for a degree this spring at Winona State, will be employed as an elementary teacher at the new schedule salary for beginning teachers.

Ormon Wilson, St. Peter, Minn., a graduate of the University of Minnesota and Mankato State College, will join the Senior High School faculty at a salary of $5,000 a year.

John Sweeney, Mankato, Minn., a graduate of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., and Mankato State College, would teach Senior High School English at a salary provided on the sixth step of the new schedule.

ALL OF the faculty appointments were made on the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson.

Employment of Sablin, Miss Lammo and Wilson were approved unanimously. Fourth Ward Director Daniel S. Sadowski voted against the motion to hire Sweeney but didn't comment on his vote. Sweeney has been teaching freshman English at Mankato State while enrolled there and was recommended for placement on the sixth step of the salary schedule by Nelson in consideration of his background that includes several years service in the Merchant Marine and attendance at Rutkin College, Oxford, England.

Nelson told directors that he had interviewed Sweeney but had not received formal acceptance of a contract.

W. D. JONES, manager of the Swift and Co. plant here, and Robert Jacobs, a Stockton Valley farmer, were appointed to fill vacancies on the agriculture advisory committee.

Payrolls approved for payment included those for: Homebound instructors, $679.75; day-to-day substitute teachers, $1,177.50; physical education assistants, $100.50; assistant in the educable class, $36; attendance teacher, $63.75; noon hour supervisors, $39.25; adult evening classes, $471.55; boys' locker room and towel room attendant, $33.29, and student helpers in the cafeteria, $33.60.

Overtime payments to the Jefferson School secretary, $27.90, and custodial and maintenance employees, $392.66, were authorized.

Braves Fans Strike Out 'Bob Buhl'

DURAND, Wis.—A bogus "Bob Buhl" of Milwaukee Braves pitching fame will be sentenced in Pepin County Court Feb. 20 on a bogus check charge.

It created quite a stir, however, when a man posing as Bob Buhl appeared in the area recently. They traced him by checks he wrote, and even though he lacked physical characteristics of the noted pitcher, he received a royal welcome from ball fans at Mondovi, Durand and Ellsworth. He had free meals and drinks and reportedly was given free overnight lodging in a private home at Mondovi.

But the checks began to bounce. Sharper sports fans in a tavern west of Fall Creek, Wis., on Highway 12 led to the downfall of Gerald Bennit, Minneapolis. He was arrested by an Eau Claire County traffic officer and held in jail for Pepin County Sheriff Victor Seline.

In Pepin County Court last Monday Bennit waived preliminary hearing and pleaded guilty to check forgery. Judge Ryan Law ordered a pre-sentence investigation and he is being housed in Pierce County jail at Ellsworth until sentencing next Tuesday.

He was accused of passing a worthless $50 check at Club 10, Durand. It was issued to cash, signed by his own name and then endorsed by "Bob Buhl." Pierce County authorities said they have a similar warrant for the man, who passed a $35 check near Ellsworth.

It Happened Last Night Broadway Having Boom in Beards

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—There's a boom on in beards! Robert Preston was sitting in Sardi's wearing his Pancha Villa downy beard when in strolled Composer Frank Loesser with a junior Van Dyke—across from Alfred Drake, with full chin whiskers. What can you say to a guy with a beard? All I could think of was "Hi, Frank, what's new?" He said he'd had a beard before: the problem is: "If you have a beautiful necktie you like, and also have a beard, you can never see the necktie."

Patton Asks Ban On Chain Stores Buying Farms

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, said Monday night that federal laws should be passed that would prevent chain stores and other corporations from buying farms.

Patton told the banquet session of the annual convention of the Wisconsin Farmers Union that the laws should be part of a federal program to preserve the family farm.

"I don't think doctors and lawyers should be engaged in farming either," Patton told an overflow crowd at a hotel. He said such people aren't farmers and only write their farming operations off as a tax deduction.

Patton strongly supported the European Common Market. The next step, he said, would be to form a Pacific market and then a world economic market to permit the free flow of goods.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson also addressed the supper meeting, defending his tax program. He said that if people don't want services, they won't have taxes but if they want schools and roads and other facilities they must pay for them.

Robert G. Lewis, former farm aide to Nelson and now deputy administrator of the price support program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture spoke at an afternoon session of the 31st convention saying:

"The public, Congress and the White House will no longer tolerate an expense of $1,200 per farm or $23.70 per cow for milk price supports."

The present program Lewis said, is inadequate "because of the cost to the taxpayer." He said farmers have two choices—supply management at 90 percent of parity as proposed by the Kennedy administration, or a lower level of support.

The new program, Lewis said, would pay a higher price for milk actually used, and a lower price for the excess over a base set by the secretary of agriculture.

Weather Too Cold For Marine Band

WASHINGTON (AP)—With pomp and ceremony and sticky valves on their horns, Marine Band musicians marked the 153rd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln Monday.

Twenty-four degree cold froze the horn valves, and drummers had to make most of the music as the band accompanied wreath-layers and color guard marchers up and down the steps of the Lincoln Memorial.

Before the cold weather immobilized their instruments, the band's brass got their valves and trombone slides into positions which sufficed for taps and some rattles and flourishes. But the valves were too stiff for any quick-paced marches. A steady succession of drum rolls filled the gap.

Historian Tells About Kennedys

Brother Who Died in War Marked for Presidency

By TOM HORGAN

BOSTON (AP)—Had Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. returned from the wars he would be president of the United States today, in the opinion of the Navy's historian, Rear Adm. Samuel Eliot Morison (Ret.).

The admiral said in an interview today why he believes Joseph P. would have been just as strong a presidential candidate as his brother, President Kennedy, perhaps stronger.

"Joe was two years older than Jack," said Morison, "and some had opposed Jack because of his youth.

"Joe had every bit as much ability and he had been prepped by his father to take over the political helm for the family."

"He got along well with people, was very popular at Harvard and a member of several clubs, including Hasty Pudding."

"Joe's war record would have suffered nothing by comparison with that of younger brother Jack."

Morison's interview hinged on an article he has written for Look magazine, "Death of a Kennedy."

In it he tells of that may never be known of the circumstances attending Kennedy's death. Kennedy, 28, died Aug. 12, 1944, in a voluntary mission. He and another volunteer, Wilford J. Willy, took aloft a tired old Navy Liberator bomber burdened with nearly 10 tons of high explosive.

The Liberator "drone" had an electronic control system for operation by two following planes. Kennedy and Willy were to boil out over England as the guide planes took over. Just short of that the Liberator vanished in such a stupendous blast nothing large enough to pick up was recovered.

The intended target was Lielgland, site of German submarine pens and a V2 missile base.

The two volunteers were lieutenants at the time. Willy, of Newark, N. J., was married and six years older than Kennedy, but because of Kennedy's long experience in Liberator, he was given command.

Kennedy and Willy were awarded the Navy Cross posthumously. The Navy named a destroyer for Kennedy. Robert F. Kennedy, now attorney general, was a member of her crew.

Hoffa Wants Truck Cabs Air Conditioned

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times said today it has learned that James R. Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, plans to demand air-conditioned cabs for over-the-road trucks operating in Illinois and Texas.

The paper said Hoffa told his Teamsters Union lieutenants the demand will be made in retaliation for action by the legislatures of the two states outlawing Hoffa's demand for a $5 payment to the union on each trailer movement by rail—the so-called piggy-back plan now in operation for many long-distance truck cargo movements.

Hoffa has contended that thousands of truck driver jobs are lost yearly as piggy-back shipments increase.

The story said Hoffa told local union officials at a meeting in Chicago that the air-conditioning proposal was aimed at better working conditions for the drivers.

"He is reported to have told them," the story said, "that the Illinois and Texas legislatures are reactionary and must be taught a lesson."

Farm Boy Held In Assault Case

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP)—Robert Oliver Miller, 13, a farm boy, has been found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon in the wounding of two Idaho policemen and will be sentenced Feb. 23.

Robert was convicted Monday night. He was charged with attempted murder, but the jury found him guilty of the lesser charge which carries a maximum sentence of two years in prison or a $5,000 fine, or both.

Miller shot former Caldwell Police Chief Keith Judd and Deputy Sheriff Melvin States at the Miller home last Aug. 26. They had joined a search for a mysterious sniper reported shooting at the Miller family.

Both officers are paralyzed as a result of the shooting.

Red China Says Parley Will Fail

HONG KONG (AP)—Hong Kong's official Chinese Communist newspaper today bluntly said Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for an 18-nation disarmament summit meeting will not achieve anything.

"The only way to ensure world peace is to uproot imperialism," said the New Evening Post. "Troops and arms are only tools of war and imperialism is the cause of it."

Labor Strikes Increase in Missile Work

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor strikes increased sharply at the nation's missile bases in January prompting government officials to move quickly to insure that a no-strike pledge is honored.

It was learned today that Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg was so disturbed that he immediately called in leaders of five unions involved to tell them they had to do a better job.

Goldberg also plans to summon contractors from the two sites where three-fourths of the January strikes occurred—sites operated by the Lincoln, Neb., and Larson (Moses Lake, Wash.) Air Force bases.

The number of missile walkouts doubled from 11 in December to 22 in January. The lost time rose from about 950 man days in December to nearly 2,500 in January.

Despite the rise, the manpower loss is still running much less than it did before last May when the no-strike pledge was given. Before that, missile strike time losses were running over 7,000 man days a month and in one month well over 25,000.

President Kennedy established a missile site labor commission with Goldberg as chairman after hearings before a congressional committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., revealed widespread construction delays and pay practice abuses.

Goldberg assured McClellan then that if the voluntary no-strike pledge failed to work the administration would join in supporting legislation to outlaw missile strikes.

White House Asks Press Secretaries To State Governors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Press secretaries of all the 50 state governors have been invited to Washington Feb. 24 to meet with White House press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Salinger said the invitations went out about two weeks ago and most of the press secretaries have accepted.

He said that obviously the meeting will be on a nonpartisan basis. It will be similar, he said, to briefings that have been held at the White House for newspaper executives, officials of radio and television and other groups, such as government press relation officers.

Many press secretaries write speeches, Salinger told a reporter, and it was thought it might be helpful for those on the governors' staffs to receive a background briefing on the federal government's foreign and domestic policies.

The press secretaries probably will get to see President Kennedy, unless he should be out of town, although Salinger said he does not know at this point whether the President will receive them.

U.N. Forces to Check Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations has told Katanga President Moise Tshombe that U. N. forces must be allowed to enter the cities of Jadotville and Kolwezi to make sure he carries out his promise to oust mercenaries from his breakaway province.

Sture C. Linner, U. N. officer in charge of the Congo command, disclosed Monday he had notified Tshombe it was essential that U. N. forces be allowed "absolute freedom of movement" in these cities.

At present U. N. forces in Katanga are mainly located in the capital of Elisabethville.

King Saud Visits U.S. and Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrives today for a short visit with President Kennedy.

The king, who has been recuperating in Florida after extended medical treatment in the United States, was scheduled to arrive from Palm Beach at mid-afternoon aboard a U.S. government jet plane.

Kennedy planned to greet the Arabian monarch with full military honors at nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

The President scheduled a black tie dinner tonight for the king, who leaves Washington Wednesday.

FAMOUS DARLING CARTOON . . . This is one of the many famous cartoons by J. N. 'Ding' Darling, retired Des Moines Register artist, who died Monday at the age of 85 after a lingering illness. It depicts the death of former President Theodore Roosevelt, the rough rider. (AP Photofax)

Darling Dies

A Mississippi River duck hunter who got angry when the first duck depression hit in the mid-30's and decided to do something about it, died Sunday in Des Moines at the ripe old age of 85.

J. N. "Ding" Darling gave up a $100,000-a-year job as top syndicate cartoonist of the New York Herald-Tribune and Des Moines papers to take an $8,000-a-year job in the Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt as chief of the old Biological Survey to save duck hunting.

Thunder and lightning broke loose when "Ding" hit Washington. Bureaucratic red tape went down the drain. He went up to Capitol Hill and demanded an unheard sum of money in these days of "save the ducks" and he got it.

Bright young men went out over the land purchasing marshes, wetlands and river bottomlands. Being a Mississippi River hunter he wanted most of all river bottomlands.

"Darling came to Winona," George Winslow, veteran Wildlife refuge employee, told us today. "We took him for a boat ride down the river on the refuge boat Wood Duck and showed him the remaining bottomlands. Drainage had run wild for the decade before."

The Delta Farms or what later became The Delta Fur and Fish Farm involving the Trempealeau River delta area, had to be purchased that week, "Ding" was told. The young man assured "Ding" that they had arranged it. They had acquired the site for the headquarters buildings, the rest was just a matter of time.

Darling, the story goes, sat down at his desk in Washington, drew a picture of the headquarters structure and told the architects to build it. Later in a lawsuit at Madison, Morris J. Owen, well-known Winona attorney of that period, in an argument for the Delta company against a condemnation action, called the structure "The Cathedral of St. John the Baptist, in the wilderness of Wisconsin." Girl Scouts now use the building.

Now, almost 30 years later, the government is still trying to acquire the area. A new deal is now pending but "Ding" can perhaps be given credit for preserving the area for the ducks. It is still a marshy wetland along Old Man River.

Later Darling spent much time promoting soil conservation. His drawings are still being reproduced in this field. We have published quite a few of them in the past at the head of this column.

He liked this column. He had it clipped and sent to his desk. We recall one time we wrote an article that he did not like. He got so angry, he wrote us a five-page letter in long-hand while traveling on a train from Washington to Chicago. We met him later at an Izaak Walton League convention there and he was still upset about the article, the subject of which we don't recall, and gave us a lecture.

He was responsible for the Migratory Bird Conservation Committee, saw to it that the duck stamp law was enacted, designed the first duck stamp as well as several since, and was an active member of the Wildlife Federation. He headed several of its important committees.

He is given credit by many of today's leaders as the man who got long-haired conservationists and hunters and fishermen working shoulder to shoulder for the whole outdoors. The achievement of this union are today written all over the face of America.

Despite all of his efforts and the energy of many others, duck hunting was no better last fall than it was the years of the "Great Drought." Perhaps without it, the wild duck today would be nearly as rare as the passenger pigeon. The nation today mourns for "Ding" Darling—a great conservationist.

Youth Takes Father's Plane

RATON, N. M. (AP)—A teen-aged Texan flew solo in his father's airplane Monday from Amarillo, Tex., without permission and without benefit of flying lessons.

David House, 15, the pilot, and a companion, Craig Adcock, 16, both of Amarillo, were jailed overnight at the request of David's father, Walter House. No charges were filed.

Young House landed at Crew's municipal airport 12 miles south of Raton.

"I landed out on the prairie three times on the way over here just to see if I could do it," David told police.

Congressional Seat At Stake in Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—State Sen. Harold M. Ryan, a Democrat, and Republican Robert E. Waldron faced each other at the polls today in a special election in Michigan's 14th Congressional District.

About 65,000 votes were expected to be cast by the district's 250,000 registered voters in the election to fill the seat vacated by the death of Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, D-Mich.

The district is traditionally Democratic.

President Kennedy and top Democratic national officials campaigned in behalf of Ryan.

Waldron received endorsement from Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, and Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana.

The 14th District is composed of East side Detroit, Harper Woods and the Grosse Pointe suburbs.

Dam Dangers Cited By Coast Guard

THE U. S. COAST GUARD has warned smallboat operators to exercise more caution when in the vicinity of Mississippi River dams. A number of accidents in 1961—some of them fatal—are unfortunate illustrations of the hazards of cruising too close to dams.

Officials at Second Coast Guard District Headquarters in St. Louis point out that the boater may not notice the rapidly increasing current of water near a dam until it is too late to do anything about it. They urge operators of small craft to observe dam warning signs and lights.

From Coast Guard files come these examples of the dangers created by dams:

• A 16-foot outboard was cruising in the upper river. Three persons were aboard. They had no lifesaving devices with them.

The craft approached a 200-foot long dam. Five hundred feet away on the shore was a large sign reading: DANGER, CLOSING DAM, DO NOT PASS THIS POINT. When 200 feet from the dam, the operator of the boat noticed the fall of the water over the dam. He turned to starboard and headed for shore. As the speed of the motor was increased, it stopped. The boat drifted rapidly over the dam, falling about two feet and throwing its occupants into the water. One of the passengers, a 16-year-old girl, lost her life in the accident.

IGNORING the warning sign, placing too much dependence on a motor, and the lack of life saving devices, were contributing factors to this fatal accident.

• Three persons were cruising downstream on the Allegheny River at 20 to 25 miles per hour. The operator suddenly noticed he was only 30 feet from a dam. He gunned the engine and the boat went bow first over the dam. After the craft had settled on the other side of the dam, one of the passengers, a 19-year-old girl, was found lying on the floorboards. Hospitalized for three months by serious back injuries, she will be an invalid for an indefinite period.

It is possible that if the operator had not given his engine full throttle at the last moment, one or more of those aboard might have lost their lives.

• Two persons lost their lives when their 15-foot boat went over a dam on the Ohio River in West Virginia. The accident occurred at night in clear weather. The pair was last seen by crew members of a towboat, cruising in the vicinity of the dam.

THE DAM DISPLAYED the following lights: A red light on the upper end of the guide wall; floodlights on the apron of the lock, lighting the entire lock area, including the dam; three green lights on the upper end of the lock wall; lock traffic regulating lights; and floodlights shining out on the dam. These warnings were ignored.

• A family was enjoying an open area near a dam on the Ohio River, towing a skier in circles over the water. Each circle came within a few hundred feet of the dam. Personnel at the lock ran out repeatedly to wave the boat off. Then the boat ran out of fuel, at the closest point to the dam. Before the craft could be refueled, it passed over the dam and dumped all the family into the turbulent water below where only the quick action of others prevented a tragedy.

THESE AND SIMILAR cases point out the need for familiarity with the area in which one is cruising, observance of warning signs and signals, and extreme caution in the region of dams.

Freeman Gets Court Setback

THE UNITED STATES COURT of Appeals has ruled that Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman went "too far" in ordering meat packers to attach an "imitation ham" label on smoked hams to which water had been added. Wherein the court sided in with a ruling given by Freeman's predecessor in office, Ezra Taft Benson, whose actions as farm secretary were often attacked by Freeman when the latter was governor of the state of Minnesota.

The court threw out Freeman's edict as "an enforced distortion of the truth," adding that it would force meat packers into violating a statute which forbids misbranding. The litigation could have been avoided, said the ruling, by requiring ham labels "showing the nature and extent of added water."

Freeman took the position that packers should not add water to hams to make them more palatable, but the court didn't agree with him. Rather it took a position which seemed to uphold the previous opposite ruling by Benson who permitted water up to 10 percent of the green or un-cured weight of the ham.

IT BECOMES more and more apparent that the former governor of this state is learning that what many said before he became secretary is true—that the job is perhaps the toughest in the entire assignment of jobs in the federal setup.—Red Wing Republican Eagle.

Gambling has been made legal in England, but this has not made it a bit easier to come out a winner.

The United States orbits a "beer can" satellite. This suggests to some observers that the space race is coming to a head.

Washington Calling

Cabinet Claims Privacy Right

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—In a tradition almost as old as the American form of government Congress and the executive are engaged once again in a struggle over duties and privileges going to the heart of the system of divided power.

While the issue immediately at stake—whether the Pentagon censors the speeches made by men in uniform shall be identified in public—seems comparatively unimportant, there is a strong feeling within the administration on the peril of surrender. The demand raised by Sen. Strom Thurmond in the "muzzling" investigation in the Stennis subcommittee involves "executive privilege" and the right of the President and his Cabinet to conduct official business with a degree of privacy.

The military censors, if they were called before the committee, would have little difficulty. They have the respectability of rank and uniform. As several military witnesses have already shown, the speeches are usually written by junior officers and they are cleared by junior ranks in the Pentagon and the State Department.

How elaborate the Pentagon's speech-making apparatus is—a minor but not a negligible part of the cost of the defense establishment—has been shown in the hearings. Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, head of research and development for the Army, made 54 speeches in 1960 and last year, up to September, he had made 34. While other high-ranking officers have been somewhat more restrained, the speech-making and speech-clearing bureaucracy takes many hours of Pentagon time.

SECRETARY OF Defense Robert McNamara has been resisting pressure from the Stennis committee for release of the names of the censors. This has not been easy, since Democratic senators ordinarily friendly to the administration would like to be saved the embarrassment of having to vote for or against the right of the administration to invoke "executive privilege." They are arguing that, after all, it can't do much harm, since the military censors can show that they were acting in the chain of command.

But beyond the investigation into Pentagon censoring, which has produced little that was new, looms the principal target—the State Department. If McNamara should yield, then presumably State would have to follow suit and disclose the names of the junior officials who cleared speeches from the foreign policy viewpoint. Sen. Thurmond would then have an opportunity to put them on the witness stand as he developed his charge that censorship has been motivated by a "no win" policy in the cold war.

THIS HAS THE look, to State Department officials, of the early years of the Eisenhower administration when junior civil servants called up by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy found it difficult or impossible to defend individual actions taken out of the context of official policy. In the atmosphere of that time they were sacrificed with little or no attempt to show what their duties and responsibilities had been in the executive branch of government. This was one reason for the disastrous drop in State Department morale from which, as this administration is well aware, the department and the foreign service have never fully recovered.

Sen. Thurmond has reason to be disappointed with the course of the investigation thus far. Military witnesses have on the whole stopped short of saying that censoring nullified or blunted the impact of what they sought to tell the public.

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who was to have been the prize exhibit of a military man reined in unfairly by civilian authority, chose this moment to announce his candidacy for governor of Texas. The charge brought against him when he was relieved of his command in Germany was that he had involved himself in partisan politics. By openly seeking office on an extreme-rightist platform he seems to have documented that charge.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Another Kennedy Man Under Senate Pressure

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—Senators are taking a close, quiet look at another Kennedy appointee, Harold Woodward, who has been named to the Federal Power Commission. This would give him a voice in making billion-dollar decisions affecting the oil and gas industry.

The senators have dug up the record of an old Chicago scandal involving Woodward and his father. The father, Judge Charles Woodward, assigned several equity cases to the law firm that employed Harold. The firm collected a total of $225,889.89 in attorney and receiver fees from these cases.

Simultaneously, Harold Woodward's salary was raised from $9,000 to $13,000 a year. For good measure, another $3,000 was paid to him in fees and bonuses.

The senators also have learned that Woodward continued his law practice on the side, in violation of state law, while he served as an assistant commissioner on the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Woodward admitted to this commission that he kept his law office open but claimed he refused to accept any cases during the 1953-54 period in question.

Rather than give up his law practice, he got around the law by requesting a donation from assistant commissioner to hearing examiner.

As for the equity-case scandal, Woodward pleaded that he had repented of his part in it and had satisfied the Chicago Bar Association which has endorsed him for positions of public trust.

Meanwhile, the Senate Commission has postponed action on Woodward's confirmation until it can learn more about his law practice.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger, who struggled with the language barrier during his talks with Soviet Press Chief Mikhail Khramov, is intrigued with the fabulous new machine that translates Russian into English quicker than it takes to think.

The only hitch is that the machine translations are sometimes too literal.

Salinger tells of one message, for instance, that came out: "Whisky is willing but meat is weak."

The puzzled operators finally figured out that the machine meant to say: "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Mexican Ambassador Carrillo Flores tells of another machine which was supposed to say: "Out of sight, out of mind."

Instead, the message came out: "A blind idiot."

Note: The White House has received private word from Moscow that Khrushchev, following his visit with Salinger, has been promoted. He is now in charge of all radio and television in the Soviet Union. This may mean that the Kremlin is ready to go ahead with Salinger's proposal to exchange TV appearances permitting President Kennedy to talk to the Russian people and Premier Khrushchev to speak to the American public.

A new right-wing martyr, more polished than the stumbling Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, may be about to storm out of the Army.

He is Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, the Army's research chief and favorite after-dinner speaker, who is already assuming a martyr's pose in private.

A spellbinder on the stump, he has been averaging a speech a week. The main theme of his purple oratory has been the evils of Communism.

This has brought him into conflict with the Defense Department censors who have been obligated to delete an occasional anti-Communist passage for diplomatic reasons.

For instance, Trudeau's references to "World Communism" were changed to "Sino-Soviet Communism." It has been U. S. policy, under both Democratic and Republican rule, to split Communist Yugoslavia away from the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Therefore, the State Department likes to discriminate in official speeches between "World Communism," which would include Yugoslavia, and "Sino-Soviet Communism," which would not.

But Trudeau went crying to Sen. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Dixiecrat, about this suppression.

In his outcry against military muzzling, Thurmond cited ten anti-Communist references which he said had been censored out of officers' speeches. It turned out that all ten came from Trudeau's speeches.

On the witness stand, Trudeau darkly questioned the "motivation" of the censors who made these deletions. Yet he failed to explain why the censors, if their motives were suspicious, neglected to cut out other acid, anti-Communist phrases.

In fact, most of Trudeau's criticism of Communism was left unchanged.

His civilian superiors understandably don't want a general around who goes behind their back to the Senate and who doesn't understand the subtle diplomatic reasons for rewording official speeches occasionally.

Result: Trudeau will be eased out of the Army in a few weeks.

Sensing this, he is making a bid for the No. 2 spot at the Central Intelligence Agency. Ironically, Trudeau was bounced as Army intelligence chief in 1955 for trying to influence Chancellor Konrad Adenauer against the CIA's operation in Germany.

President Kennedy has let it be known that he has no intention of appointing Trudeau to the CIA. This may mean another angry, frustrated general will soon be turned loose to join Gen. Walker on the stump.

New School Aid Formula

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—After months of intensive discussion, Congress has found, temporarily at least, a solution to the controversy over the constitutionality of federal aid to educational institutions operated by church groups.

Both houses of Congress have now approved provisions which would permit the federal government to lend or make grants of money to private educational institutions for the construction of classrooms, libraries and laboratories, but it is stipulated that such facilities must not be used for religious instruction of any kind. The states could adopt the same formula.

This means that, to get federal aid, any college, for instance, operated by a religious body must physically separate the classes wherein religious teachings are given from those where teaching of ordinary school subjects is carried on. Certainly in the teaching of physics or any other scientific subject or in the teaching of mathematics, there is no likelihood of any religious doctrine being introduced.

Almost identical language is used in the house and senate bills in forbidding the grant or loan of federal funds for facilities that will be used for religious instruction or worship.

For all practical purposes, this prohibition now has been virtually enacted into law because the conference committee is bound to retain the general provision. Presumably, too, it would apply to whatever form of aid is voted by the conference, whether it be loans only, as voted by the Senate, or both loans and grants, as provided by the house. The President has indicated that he will sign the whole bill when it comes from the conference committee.

Lawrence

Thus comes to an end for the time being the controversy, on constitutional grounds, over whether the federal government can grant or lend money to a church-operated college to help provide instruction in general educational subjects when the buildings are used for that purpose only and when religious teaching is carried on in other buildings for which the federal government does not lend or give money.

Up to now, it has often been argued that the mere teaching of religion in any institution disqualifies it, because of constitutional objections, from receiving any form of direct aid from the federal government. The advocates on the other side have insisted that federal aid for general education should not be limited for legal reasons to public institutions wholly disconnected from religious teaching.

Congress has faced some political repercussions from the controversy, which has been made even more complicated by the fact that clear-cut decisions by the Supreme Court on some of these points have been lacking. It has been contended, for example, that if the Supreme Court holds it to be constitutional for the federal government to allow its funds to be used to obtain educational facilities for war veterans by means of scholarships used in any privately operated or public college—as covered in various laws passed by Congress in recent years—there could be no logical grounds for a decision by the court prohibiting the loan of federal money for new buildings where religion is not to be taught.

SOME STUDENTS of constitutional law, like Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina, Democrat, insist that past decisions of the Supreme Court could be interpreted to mean that, despite any proviso Congress might adopt, federal loans to non-public schools would be unconstitutional. His amendment to bar loans to private or church-supported colleges was defeated by a vote of 72 to 15, but introduction of the proposal by the North Carolina senator had the effect of causing the advocates of the bill in the senate to insert into it a provision, similar to the one in the bill passed by the House, saying that the construction money couldn't be used for any buildings in which religion is taught or practiced.

A test case, it is being suggested, may never be brought because the supreme court itself has made it difficult for any litigation to be received from a taxpayer questioning the uses of federal funds. But sooner or later some ingenious mind will devise grounds for a test.

Meanwhile, Congress has gotten over its first hurdle, and it may be that when the President's broad program for aid to education, as presented in his message to Congress this week, comes before both houses for consideration, it will be subjected to some amendments allowing the same aids to be extended to private schools of all kinds, even at the elementary-school level, provided no religious teaching is carried on in any of the private-school buildings for which federal aid is requested.

THE DOCTRINE of "separation of church and state" is, therefore, undergoing more and more definition by Congress itself as it narrows the grounds for challenge of constitutionality. This is gratifying to those members of Congress who faced reprisals at the polls no matter which way they voted on the issues of federal aid to private schools of all kinds.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-lyne)—a discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation II.

At all drug counters.

Marshland Man Found Dead on Kellogg Highway

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special)—A Wisconsin man was found dead this morning in a ditch near his truck which was parked on Highway 42 near here.

Theodore Strub, 62, Marshland, Wis., resident, apparently died of natural causes. There was no evidence of foul play, according to Robert Johnson, Wabasha County deputy coroner.

According to Lloyd Baker, Strub was a distant cousin of his father-in-law, Herman Gander. Strub sometimes hauled hay for Gander. Monday Strub and Gander had lost a few bales of hay while making a trip for Gander. Strub planned to go back to the location about two miles west of here to pick up the bales. He left about 4:30 p.m.

"We would have gone to look for him last night," said Baker, "but he (Strub) changes his mind like the weather. We thought maybe he'd decided to do something else."

Strub's body was found about 10 a.m. today. His truck was not damaged.

A sister of Strub's, Mrs. Floyd Riester, lives in Wabasha.

Lincoln Talks Hard on Some Republicans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republicans engaged in praising the greatness of Abraham Lincoln are coming up with about as much criticism of Republicans as they are leveling at the Democrats.

Margaret Chase Smith of Maine the lone GOP woman senator, topped the political soul-searching with a suggestion Monday night in Bangor, Maine, that her party's leading lights are ducking the 1964 presidential nomination because they are afraid they can't beat President Kennedy.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., scolded Republicans in a New York speech for "paying too much attention to the thunder on the right and not enough attention to the thunder in the cities."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., said in Seattle, Wash., he agrees with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that "extreme left wingers were advocating socialism, while the extreme right wingers were advocating strong-arm government."

Saltonstall, who described himself as a moderate, indicated he wishes both wings would go away. He said neither subscribes to the "real aims" of the Republican or Democratic parties.

Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said in a Pittsburgh speech Republicans need to ask themselves whether they have "given sufficient impetus to humanitarian programs—or have we lost touch with millions upon millions of our fellow Americans who no longer regard Republicans as their champions?"

"The preponderance of evidence suggests we have increasingly lost support of the people," Fong said. "Surveys show that Republicans fail to command majority allegiance of a single major group in America."

Mrs. Smith blasted what she called "faintheartedness" among the Republicans. She made it clear she thinks former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York may be "waiting for a sunny day" in 1968 to bid for the presidency.

Nixon and Rockefeller declined comment. But a Rockefeller spokesman pointed out that when the governor was asked Sunday during a television interview whether he thought a Republican could beat Kennedy in 1964 he replied, "I certainly do."

Mrs. Smith suggested that perhaps "the really true role contemplated for George Romney is to be the sacrificial lamb on the Republican altar in 1964."

Romney is taking a leave as head of American Motors to seek the GOP nomination for governor of Michigan. There is speculation that if he is elected, he will go after the party's presidential nomination two years hence.

Commenting in Cincinnati, Ohio on Romney's entry into the race, Goldwater said he hopes that during the campaign Romney "is able to decide more emphatically that he is a Republican" than some of his statements on a previous television program indicated.

Mrs. Smith foiled Nixon and Goldwater have said they will not bid for the 1964 nomination and

Four-Star General Reaches Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—With a fanfare and military pageantry, Gen. Paul B. Harkins, new four-star commander of America's largest military operation in Southeast Asia, arrived today.

The sunnied, blue-eyed West Pointer said he had accepted appointment as U.S. military commander in South Viet Nam with "determination and humility," and praised the Vietnamese people and army in their "efforts to eradicate communism."

Reds Fire at Fleeing Couple

ESCHWEIGE, Germany (AP)—Communist guards fired at a young East German couple swimming through the icy Werra River in daylight today in a desperate dash to the West.

The man suffered a leg wound but was able to drag his fainting fiancée to safety on the bank of the river.

He was picked up by a West German patrol as he was walking barefoot to the nearest village, carrying the girl in his arms. The couple reached the river through an opening in the barbed wire border fence.

During the night, four families totaling 15 persons slipped into the West at another section of the Iron Curtain border. All were from one East German border village.

Split With Sinatra Denied by Prowse

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"That's Tommyrot," said dancer Juliet Prowse of a rumored split between her and her fiancé, singer Frank Sinatra.

Sinatra wasn't at the airport when Miss Prowse arrived Saturday night from her home in Johannesburg, South Africa. Her manager, Ed Goldstone, told newsmen: "Frank wasn't there because they had arranged to meet later."

They did, and had dinner together.

Arthur Bergh Dies Aboard Ocean Liner

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arthur Bergh, 81, composer, died Sunday after a heart attack aboard the SS President Cleveland en route to Honolulu.

Bergh, who wrote more than 400 musical compositions, was first violinist for the New York Symphony Orchestra and the Metropolitan Opera House from 1903 to 1908.

Mrs. Miller Describes Israel For Ruskin Club

Mrs. R. W. Miller who recently returned from a trip to Israel gave an insight into the life and times of that country at the Ruskin Study Club's meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Frances Parker.

Describing the relatively young democracy, Mrs. Miller said "Israel was born as a haven for people who were seeking freedom, just as men from all over the world came to America to be free. The greatest task at the onset was to feed thousands of refugees from 70 countries, the immediate problem to reclaim barren land by irrigation and convert men from other professions to farmers."

"The massive reforestation program brought life to the desert and fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah 'The desert will sing again; the desert will dance again; the desert will bloom again like a rose.' Water is piped 300 miles from the Jordan River. Sand from the desert is used in the manufacture of ceramics and glass products which are exported."

Mrs. Miller said the Hebrew University in Jerusalem where the Hebrew medical center and hospital have just been dedicated is the nerve center of Israel's culture. "The schools play a vital part in integrating children, 100,000 of whom have been transplanted from other countries without families."

Mrs. Fred Boughton presided at the business meeting and appointed the nominating committee: Mrs. Robert Reed and Miss Grace

WSC Players Gives Compelling Performance

"An Inspector Calls" as presented by the Winona Players Monday evening at Somsen Hall auditorium is a clear and compelling expose of social respectability.

The play, directed by Jacques Reidelberger of Winona State College speech and drama staff, was presented against a strikingly simple, severe setting designed by the director. Performances today and Wednesday will begin at 8:15 p.m. and all seats are reserved. Telephone reservations will be held at the box office until 8:10 p.m.

"But the way some of these cranks talk now... you'd think everybody has to look after everybody else as if we were all mixed up like bees in a hive" echoes industrialist Arthur Birling portrayed with pomposity and puff by John Zimmer, Henricetta, N. N. Before the rugged individualist Birling can finish giving such sound advice to his spineless confused son and his daughter's dashing suitor played with deftness by Richard Heath, Best Lakes, Inspector Goole comes to call. To the astonishment of all concerned, the inspector, played with marked control and sustained relentless drive by Fred Sillman, Winona, methodically demolishes Mr. Birling's rugged individualism to expose a rotten core of puritanical hypocrisy.

The industrialist's wife is subtly characterized with a fine tone of the insensitive social snobbery of the Victorian women by Genevieve Gordish, Winona. Miss Constance Echhoff, Winona, presents their daughter, Sheila, with perception and depth. Miss Sylvia Wedel plays the maid, Edna, with propriety.

Elgin Co-op Receipts Top Million Dollars

ELGIN, Minn. (Special)—For the first time in its history, Elgin Co-op Creamery reported over a million dollars in gross sales at the annual meeting Saturday at the community school auditorium.

Farmers attending were unanimously in favor of starting a cooperative elevator in Elgin, as suggested by R. J. Dickerman, chairman of the Commercial Club. The possibility will be investigated further.

Co-op members voted to contribute to the American Dairy Association to promote further advertising of dairy products.

William Hognson, University of Minnesota, spoke on dairy cattle testing and its importance to the industry. Miss Diane Morrissey, Zumbro Falls, recounted her experiences since she was elected Wabasha County dairy princess.

Hank Spenser, Minneapolis ventriloquist, furnished entertainment and Elgin High School band, directed by Harold Salmonson, played during the noon hour when about 600 patrons and families were served.

Robert Ernst and Harold Koepf were elected directors for 3-year terms succeeding Frank Loos and Leo Prescher, whose terms had expired. Thomas Dickerman, vice president, presided at the business meeting, which opened at 11 a.m.

More Television Considered in Public Schools

A proposal that televised lessons in junior high school general science be incorporated in the instructional program of the public schools Monday night was referred by the Board of Education to the school administration for further study.

The group of schools, including, Winona, which have been receiving television instruction in elementary Spanish from educational television Channel 2, have been considering an extension of a similar program in the area of general science. Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson told the board.

THE COURSE would be offered eighth graders on the basis of three lessons a week. On these three days there would be a 30-minute television presentation supplemented by 30 minutes of instruction by the classroom teacher. On the other two days all the instruction would be presented locally.

The total cost of the program would come to about $53,600 the first year, of which about 35 percent would be reimbursed from National Defense Education Act funds and the remainder divided among the participating schools. Nelson estimated that the first year cost to Winona public schools might come to about $2,800.

Director-at-Large L. R. Woodworth said he thought the administration should take "a good hard look at this before making any recommendation. I'm concerned about too much centralization in the development of the curriculum."

PLANS AND specifications by the city engineer were requested for three school grounds projects. One is for the blacktopping and construction of a fence at the Central Elementary School playground, the other two for application of bituminous surfacing under playground equipment at Lincoln and Jefferson schools.

Plans will be used to obtain cost estimates.

Fountain businessmen will donate door prizes for the meeting.

State Suggests Channel Change In Root River

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—With spring just around the corner and memories of last year's floods fresh in their minds, Rushford City Council, Rushford Village Board and interested landowners whose property is affected by high waters met in the council rooms Thursday evening with C. E. Surrill, Rochester project engineer with the Minnesota Highway Department to discuss flood control.

Pinnacle of the discussion was the straightening and clearing above, at and below Highway 16 and 43 bridge at the south city limits.

Highway engineers have determined that unless the present Root River channel is changed, the south entrance to the bridge could be washed out.

To prevent this, the channel change has been suggested so floodwaters would move more rapidly past this area and eliminate damage to cropland in the area.

Several years ago Highway 16 was raised along the southwest limits of town which has acted as a dike. This was of great benefit to the city, but forced more of the floodwaters into croplands south and east.

A committee was elected to work with the Highway Department on this project to prevent further flooding. Members are Mayor Arthur J. Miller and D. T. Rolfe representing the city; Leslie Sirm representing the village; and Stanley Houland and Truman Bremmer, farmers.

Rushford Co-op Return $28,253

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—A total of $28,253 was returned to patrons of the Rushford Cooperative Creamery Association in 1961, approximately 600 were told at the annual meeting Saturday at Rushford High School auditorium.

President Irving Larson emphasized that $60,853 has been redeemed in patrons' equities during the past three years.

Receipts from the sale of dairy products to Rochester Dairy totaled $1,023,680. The cooperative also realized $13,408 from the sale of Land of Lakes feeds, seeds and fertilizers.

The firm set a record in 1961 for the purchase of butterfat in milk and cream—a total of 1,053,048 pounds. A total of 26,790,890 pounds were received.

Average prices paid for bulk and can milk were $3.56 and $3.34. Joseph McManimon and Carol Colbenson were re-elected to three-year terms as directors.

Arthur Anderson, field representative of Rochester Dairy, was speaker.

Mazeppa Man Gets 30 Days

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—A Mazeppa man today was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for beating his wife.

Mrs. Henry Richardson, rural Mazeppa, signed a complaint against her husband for having struck and beaten her last week. Richardson, 50, was arrested at 5:30 p.m. Monday by Wabasha County Deputies Jerry Olson and Marilyn Aiken.

Justice of the Peace Henry J. Kronebusch, Wabasha, heard Richardson's plea of guilty to third degree assault and sentenced him.

Chamber Sends Welcome Letter To Chas. Pfizer

Winona Chamber of Commerce President Harold Edstrom was authorized by the board of directors Monday afternoon to send a letter of welcome to John E. McKee, president, Chas. Pfizer & Co., New York, which is buying Watkins Products, Inc.

McKee and other Pfizer officials, who were recently in Winona to negotiate the sale, will continue to operate the Watkins firm here under the Watkins name.

At a luncheon meeting at Hotel Winona, Chamber directors reviewed plans for finding a garage for Winona Transit Co. Attending a Winona City Council committee meeting Monday night on the garage were these chamber representatives: Edstrom; Donald R. Holley, Francis Whaley, chairman of the chamber's Merchants Bureau; Earl Hagberg, administrator of Winona General Hospital; and A. J. Anderson, secretary-manager of the chamber.

It was announced the Winona and Rochester chambers would sponsor a businessmen's bus trip to St. Paul March 16 where the U. S. chamber will conduct a regional meeting on current national legislation. All businessmen are invited. Phone the local chamber for reservations.

Westgate Motel and Biesanz Ready Mix were admitted to chamber membership. West End Greenhouse was reinstated. Two additional memberships were granted to the Badger Division of the Warner & Swasey Co. Edstrom presided.

Teacher Salary Recommendations Expected Soon

A Board of Education salary study committee reported Monday night that within the next few weeks it may have recommendations to submit to the full board on salaries for public schools employees for the next year.

Board President Lawrence Santelman, 1st Ward, said that he and Directors Frank J. Allen Jr., Dr. C. R. Kollofski and Franklin Tillman, Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson and Paul W. Sanders, clerk and business manager, have had one preliminary meeting with representatives of the teaching staff for discussion of a 1962-63 salary schedule.

HE SAID that consideration also has been given to salaries for other members of the administrative, custodial, maintenance, clerical and cafeteria staffs and for part-time and hourly employees.

Another meeting with the teachers is being scheduled, Santelman said, and a special board meeting may be called when an overall recommendation on salaries for all employees has been drafted.

At the conclusion of last night's board meeting members of the salary committee met informally with the other six directors to discuss salary issues and obtain an indication of the feeling of the remainder of the board on adjustments that can and should be made in salary allowances for the coming year.

IN OTHER business last night the board received and placed on file a letter from the Board of Municipal Works expressing the water board's intent to have water meters installed in public schools and other city department buildings in which water is not metered at the present time.

Directors noted that the letter was simply informative, advising directors of contemplated water board action, and no action of the school board was necessary now.

Monthly bills were approved for payment and Sanders' reports on the community school lunch program and financial statements were received.

Attending the meeting were Santelman and D. G. Hoffman, 1st Ward; Maurice D. Godsey and Dr. Kollofski, 2nd Ward; Allen and Dr. C. W. Rogers, 3rd Ward; Daniel S. Sadowski and Tillman, 4th Ward; and Director-at-Large L. R. Woodworth.

Water Flows Into Mellen Once Again

MELLEN, Wis. (AP)—Water flowed through the town's municipal system today after a patching job was completed Monday night on a six-inch main.

The water had been leaking out of the main for about a week, driving townspeople in this northern Wisconsin community to pulling buckets of water from the Bad River, or melting snow.

Residents were ordered to continue boiling their water until clearance is given by the State Health Department. Mayor Howard A. Peters said the department would probably okay it by Wednesday.

Class at Eyota

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—The adult agriculture accounting group will meet at the high school here tonight. There is still room in this group, which meets monthly to learn how to keep farm account books.

Eyota Co-op Sets Records

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—A record year was reported at the annual meeting of Farmers Cooperative Creamery Association of Eyota at Dover-Eyota High School Saturday.

Total income for 1961 was reported at $1,075,360, patrons receiving $988,774. Average paid for No. 1 milk was $3.298. Net income for distribution amounted to $15,550.

A total of 1,169,978 pounds of butter was manufactured at a cost per pound of 5.22 cents. The plant also handles feed, seed and fertilizer.

Leonard Hammel was elected president; Raymond Schnell, vice president; Russell Pries, secretary, and Leland Moehne, treasurer. Robert Heins and Hubert Nuemann were re-elected directors for three years. Arthur Allen holds over. LaVerne Eddy is plant manager.

Gordon Hanson, representative of H. C. Christians Co., commented on plant management and Grant Karlsted, technician for the Soil Conservation Service, showed slides on soil and water conservation and pasture improvements. He pointed out the practices on which ACP cost sharing can be received, and stressed the importance of land use and protection to keep the topsoil from washing away.

Lunch was served at noon to the approximately 350.

Area Guernsey Breeders Set Lewiston Meet

LEWISTON, Minn.—Marketing quotas and related topics will be Harold Pederson's subject at the annual meeting and banquet of Southeast Minnesota Guernsey Breeders Association at 11 a.m. next Tuesday at Church of the Brethren near Lewiston.

Pederson, who is extension economist in marketing at the University of Minnesota, will be joined by George Chambers, former Winona County agent, now fieldman for the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Award presentations for high producing Guernsey herd in 1960 and for three best dairy females at 1961 Guernsey parish show will be made. Loren Grankamp, Fountain, will be master of ceremonies.

Charles Bonow, Lewiston, will give musical selections. Dinner reservations can be made by contacting Elmer Wirt, secretary of the association, or the Winona extension office.

All Guernsey breeders and friends from Southeast Guernsey parish, including Goodhue, Wabasha, Olmsted, Winona, Fillmore and Houston counties, are invited to attend.

Primary at Canton

CANTON, Minn.—The spring primary class at Canton Public School will open March 19. Superintendent O. E. Johnson said. It will be open to all children of the district who were 5 on Jan. 1, 1962. Parents of prospective pupils are asked to register them Feb. 20 between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. in the home economics room.

Basic Seamanship

An eight-lesson course in basic seamanship conducted by the Winona Coast Guard Auxiliary begins at 7 p.m. today in the city's West Recreation Center.

The ocelot gets its name from the Latin "ocellus," meaning a small eye. This refers to the animal's being marked with small spots or "eyes."

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New tonic-tablet laxative acts on colonic muscles... de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition. Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tonic-tablet called COLONOID. Of all leading laxatives, only COLONOID gives you its special 3-way overnight relief for tension-caused constipation. (1) COLONOID stimulates your colonic nerve network, to further activate and regulate its muscular "movement". (2) COLONOID's unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colon muscles. (3) COLONOID moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain. COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital-proved safe even for expectant mothers. Get COLONOID today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢.

It Starts Tomorrow at 9 a.m.!

DEAR ABBY:

Time for Action After Six Years

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know you don't approve of eloping, but this case is different. My Lady Love and I have been keeping company for six years and we want to get married without having the whole town know it.

I am a widower and she is a widow and our children think we are a pair of old fools for wanting to marry at this stage of our lives. I'm a young 77 and my Lady Love is 73. I am serious. Where can we get married on the Q.T.?

NO JOKE

DEAR NO: In any small town (preferably out of state) where the newspapers will not be read by those who know you. Applications for marriage licenses are a matter of public information. Good luck, kids.

DEAR ABBY: At Thanksgiving time I met a man my mother didn't approve of. Words cannot express how much I hated her when she tried to talk me out of going with him. He told me he was coming back at Christmas for two weeks and he would bring me an engagement ring. I was so overjoyed I told all my friends. He didn't write. He didn't phone. He didn't even show up. I couldn't locate him where he said he worked or lived. A slap in the face would have felt better. I've learned my lesson, Abby. For the sake of other 20-year-old girls who think their mothers don't know anything, please print this.

FOOLED

DEAR ABBY: When a man speaks of his "family," exactly what does he mean? Is it his mother, father, sisters and brothers? Or is a man's "family" his wife and children? Answer me in the paper, please. I want my husband to see it. ONLY A WIFE

DEAR ONLY: An unmarried man's "family" is his parents, brothers and sisters. A married man's family is, of course, his wife and children. P.S. I think I know your problem.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOUR GLASS FIGURE": Better cultivate your personality. What will you do when the sand starts to shift?

Car and Pickup Crash, Man Killed Near St. Cloud

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — The fiery crash of a car and pickup truck brought death to one driver Monday night as the state traffic toll moved to 55, compared with 62 a year ago today.

The body of the badly charred victim was identified by a brother as that of Nick Juenemann, 58, who ran a truck garden and florist shop at the city's outskirts. Witnesses said the gas tank of Juenemann's truck flared up after it collided with a car driven by Edward Kline, 62, rural St. Cloud. Kline, suffering from shock, suffered only minor injuries.

Wiltgen: Played as Team

ST. PETER, Minn. (Special) — "We worked our plays to perfection and for a change we played as a team, not as individuals. This would have to be called our best game of the season."

That was a pleased St. Mary's Coach Ken Wiltgen talking after his team had handed Gustavus Adolphus a 71-65 defeat here Monday night.

THE WIN was the fourth against eight losses in the MIAC for the Redmen. St. Mary's has won its last two loop tests and its last three of four games. The loss leaves Gustavus 5-7 in the conference.

It was a two-man effort for the Gusties in the first half as Bill Nordstrom pumped in 15 points and Ken Abram 12 for 27 of the 33 points the team scored. In the game Nordstrom hit 26 and Abram 24.

At intermission the score favored Gustavus 33-30. Al Williams had brought St. Mary's within one at 31-30 but Nordstrom hit a layup with seconds remaining.

IN THE second half the Redmen got their attack underway. Al Williams hit a three-point play with 14 seconds elapsed to tie the score.

Behind Dean Anderson's jump shot and two layups by Abram the Gusties opened a 39-33 lead.

BOX SCORE

St. Mary's (71)	Gustavus (65)
Hall 10 2 4 24	Nordstrom 10 4 24
Lillig 10 4 24	Wells 0 0 0
Conrad 6 0 0	Abram 10 4 24
Ruddy 4 4 12	Severson 0 0 0
T-Stallings 3 3 9	Jerabek 2 0 2
Janzen 2 0 0	Anderson 2 0 2
Williams 7 2 4	Hegeman 3 1 7
TOTALS 28 15 47	TOTALS 27 11 45
ST. MARY'S 30 41 71
GUSTAVUS 33 32 65

The Redmen kept whittling away until Marty Lillig, who scored 15 of his 24 points in the second half, knotted the score a 45-45 with 14:55 to play.

Williams and Lillig hit consecutive field goals to give the Redmen a 49-45 lead. Gustavus was never to go ahead again.

The best the Gusties could do the rest of the way was to force a 53-53 and a 55-55 tie. With three minutes left Nordstrom hit a jump shot to make the score 66-64 in St. Mary's favor. At this point Tom Stallings cashed a three pointer to make it 69-64 and the Redmen were out of reach.

IT WAS a four-man duel in the last half with Williams hitting 14 of his 16 points. This meant that Lillig and the 6-2 sophomore guard hit 29 of St. Mary's 41 points in the final 20 minutes.

Tom Ruddy fired in 12 points to go with a top rebounding job.

Next action for the Redmen comes at the hands of Concordia at Terrace Heights Saturday. Monday the Hilltoppers journey to St. Thomas before coming home to wind up the season with contests against St. John's and Hamline.

Tiny Warroad Hosts Three World Hockey Meet Teams

By MARVIN D. KELLOGG
Editor of Warroad Pioneer

WARROAD, Minn. (AP) — This hockey-minded village of 1,300 people is in the process of getting ready for a series of the most important hockey games ever played here.

Warroad, and its semi-pro hockey team, the Warroad Lakers, will host three of the teams that are headed for Colorado Springs, Colo., and the world hockey tournament starting March 8.

Each of these games is expected to pack more than the population of Warroad into Memorial Arena.

The rabid hockey fans in this village near the Canadian border await the series with great anticipation. In fact, the project of hosting the three teams is so great it has become a community effort with a big percentage of the population involved.

The honor of having three of these world-touring teams come to this little village is unique. No other city or town in the U.S. will see more than two of the foreign teams in exhibition games.

However, it seems only natural to area fans to have Warroad chosen as the site for the three games. The town has supported the Lakers through 15 seasons, during which the team has won two national championships and a host of honors in the tough Ontario-Minnesota Hockey League.

The Lakers also have claimed victories over the U.S. national hockey team, started in 1957 and over the 1960 U.S. Olympic championship team.

The key figure in the successful Warroad hockey story is team manager and coach Cal Marvin. With the aid of the community, he set a goal after World War II of making Warroad a hockey center.

The construction of a huge arena with volunteer help and donated funds was just a beginning.

The Warroad hockey program has produced such famous amateur players as the Christian brothers, Gordy, Roger and Billy. Warroad has provided the U.S. national and Olympic teams with players nearly every year since 1956.

It was Billy Christian who scored two goals against the Russians in the crucial game of the 1960 Olympics at Squaw Valley, and paved the way for the U.S. gold medal.

It was Cal Marvin who coached the first U.S. athletic team ever to appear in Moscow when he took the U.S. national hockey team there in 1958.

And it was then that Billy Christian scored the first goal a U.S. hockey team had ever been able to score against the powerful Russians.

The Warroad Lakers are currently leading the pack in the Ontario-Minnesota league, and they are the only American entry in the league that includes Ft. Frances and Kenora, who have both won Canadian amateur championships in recent years.

EQUALS BIG TEN MARK

Ohio State Posts 24th But Badgers Keep Pace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mighty Ohio State set an all-time record with 24 consecutive Big Ten victories but the nation's top-ranked team failed to gain ground in the conference race. While the Buckeyes were wiping out Wisconsin's record set in 1913 with a 75-57 triumph over Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois both won to stay alive in the Big Ten race.

Ohio State recorded its ninth Big Ten victory of the season against no defeats but Wisconsin boosted its record to 7-1 with a 105-94 triumph at Indiana and Illinois sidetracked Northwestern, 88-70. The success was Illinois' sixth in eight games.

In the only other Big Ten game, Purdue, led by Terry Dischinger, dumped Iowa, 82-75.

Aside from Wisconsin and Illinois, only Purdue (8-4) and Indiana (5-4) retained any hopes in the Big Ten race which Ohio state expects to win.

Ohio State had no cakewalk at Michigan. The Wolverines trailed 41-30 at halftime but twice came within five points in the second half before the Buckeyes finally pulled ahead safely.

John Havlicek led Ohio State with 15 points and both Jerry Lucas and Mel Nowell kicked in with 13 points. Tom Cole of Michigan was high scorer with 17 points.

Wisconsin snapped a 48-48 half-time tie and banged away to victory with five players scoring in double figures. Ken Siebel led the Dischinger was the big man in Purdue's victory with 33 points and Don Nelson topped Iowa with 21. Purdue won at the free throw line, making 26 of 33 shots while Iowa outscored the Boilermakers, 31-28, from the field.

Dave Downey and Bill Burwell led Illinois' attack over Northwestern. Downey scored 24 points and Burwell added 22. Dick Loppessa was high for Northwestern with 24.

The Big Ten will play a full schedule Saturday with Northwestern at Minnesota, Ohio State at Michigan State, Wisconsin at Michigan, Iowa at Indiana and Purdue at Illinois in a regionally televised contest.

GREEN BAY (AP) — St. Norbert went on its biggest scoring spree of the season Monday night while trouncing Northern Michigan 98-79 and avenging a defeat last December.

CAPTAIN OF 'SCRUBBINIS'

Blanchard Gets $7,000 Increase

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Blanchard, part-time catcher and outfielder who is carrying a first baseman's mitt around the New York Yankees advance baseball training camp, has received a $7,000 raise for being "captain of the scrubbinis" for the world champions.

The 29-year-old reserve signed his 1962 contract Monday along with pitchers Bob Turley and Hal Stowe, and received a 50 per cent raise to $21,000 for his hefty hitting in 1961.

The slugging utilityman swung at a .305 clip with 21 homers, winning eight games in a pinch-hitting role—four with circuit shots. He also tied a major league record by hitting homers in four consecutive times at bat, although he did it in several games. He continued his clutch hitting with two homers in the World Series against Cincinnati.

Blanchard said with a big, broad grin: "You know, I'm the

Bemidji Six Tips Redmen; Pipers Today

BEMIDJI, Minn. (Special) — St. Mary's College moved on to St. Paul today to tackle Hamline in an MIAC hockey game after dropping a 4-1 verdict to Bemidji State here Monday.

Bemidji scored twice in the third period to hand St. Mary's its fourth defeat in 12 games after the Redmen had trailed 2-0 after the first period.

Paul Lafond scored two of the Redmen's goals.

Dick McCormick of St. Mary's cut the deficit to 2-1 at 7:08 of the third period. But Lafond scored three minutes later and Arlan Hjelle jammed in an insurance goal two minutes after that.

Dick Caldwell, St. Mary's goalie, was credited with 49 saves, 21 in the first period.

FIRST PERIOD — Scoring: Bemidji — La Fond (O'Neill) 1:12; Bemidji — Benson (Scaletta) 1:43. Penalties — Sanderson (B. Pringle), Stowe (B. holding).

Werner Heads Slalom Field

CHAMONIX, France (AP) —

Wallace (Buddy) Werner, best U.S. hope for a major ski title in the last half dozen years, and three other Americans are in the 30-man field for the men's special slalom today in the World Ski Games.

Werner also is expected to compete in the giant slalom and downhill races in the games which amount to the world championship.

Chuck Ferries of Houghton, Mich.; Jimmy Heuser of Tahoe City, Calif., and Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., are the other U.S. entrants.

Austria, France and Italy also have qualified four men each for the finals. Sweden has three and West Germany, Canada, Finland, Japan and Norway have two each. Switzerland has one.

Puterbaugh Wins; Two Other Winonans Ousted

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (Special) — Heavyweight Ron Puterbaugh blasted out a decision over Lee Cottlier of Hibbing to become the only Winona fighter to win in the quarterfinals of the Upper Midwest Golden Gloves Tournament before 2,500 fans at the Auditorium here Monday night.

According to Winona Coach Chuck Puterbaugh, Ron was in command all the way. "At the end of the first round we knew we had Cottlier coming, but Ron just couldn't seem to slip in that big punch."

THE REST OF THE Country Kitchen fighters didn't fare as well.
